THANK YOU FOR YOUR PARTICIPATION!

Thank you for joining us for Safe + Sound Week 2019 and recognizing your safety successes!

We encourage you to continue building your safety and health program with action and engagement throughout the year.

What can you do now?

- Develop the core elements of your safety and health program with ideas for management leadership, worker participation, and finding and fixing hazards or explore additional Safe + Sound resources for developing your program.
- Sign up to receive the Safe and Sound at Work email newsletter. Topics include information on upcoming events, new resources, and other announcements.
- Contact OSHA’s On-site Consultation Program to get no-cost and confidential occupational safety and health services for small or medium-sized businesses.
- Learn something new at an OSHA Training Institute Education Center offering classes near you.
- Apply to be a part of the OSHA Challenge Program to develop and/or improve your safety and health program or consider pursuing formal recognition for your safety and health program through OSHA’s Voluntary Protection Program (VPP) or Safety and Health Achievement Recognition Program (SHARP).

Thank you again for your participation.
